What is Lost or Stolen Laptop Assessment?

A Lost or Stolen Laptop Assessment is a test to determine how much information can be gained from a mislaid laptop, including whether access to a company's internal infrastructure can be achieved.

Why should I have Lost or Stolen Laptop Assessment?

Many of the incidents reported by the Information Commissioner's Office which lead to fines are lost or stolen laptops containing personal information. A Lost or Stolen laptop Assessment will test what information a security expert can gain if one of your laptops is mislaid.

A Lost or Stolen Laptop assessment will be based on a typical user's laptop bag with the information that would typically be in the same bag as the laptop. A security expert will firstly attempt to gain access to the information on the laptop. If that step is successful, they will then attempt to gain access to corporate systems if there are any remote access facilities provided.

Why should I use Activity?

Activity is recognised as a leading penetration test specialist in the UK. We invest in the training and development of our security experts ensuring that you benefit from the best security advice available.

We are members of CREST – the UK industry body for penetration testing companies, as well as being recognised by HM Government for public sector penetration testing by being members of the CESG CHECK scheme. Membership of both schemes provides you with independent confirmation of the quality and professionalism of our services.

What do I get?

Our experts will test the security of your laptops against expert attack. Our findings will be presented in a written report, detailing any vulnerabilities found, our view of the risk that they pose to you, and recommended fixes to address them.

If you are considering a Lost or Stolen Laptop Assessment, we can help: contact us to arrange a Service Review Call to understand your specific requirements and answer any questions you may have; we can then formulate a proposal for you. Please call or email your account manager.
